

RESCHEDULED! NEW DATE!

The New Deal Art Registry invites you to an afternoon of art, history, and socializing

Murals and Sculptures of the New Deal 1934-1944

An illustrated presentation by Barbara Bernstein

Sunday, March 11 at 4:00 p.m.

ArtSpace 4500

4500 19th Street, San Francisco

Agit-prop in libraries. Nudity in post offices. Surrealism in public schools.

The Depression years brought an audacious collection of large-scale art to public spaces throughout America. Barbara will talk about the programs and the people behind these works. She will show many of her favorites, including several in San Francisco: works of great charm, works of great power, and works of questionable taste--all still out there for all to see.

Following the presentation, cross the street for cocktails at Barbara and John's house, 289 Douglass.
